

REFLECTION

Monday

Each person must experience Pentecost for themselves. We need the Holy Spirit and we each need Him in our own way.

Scripture assures us that the Holy Spirit is not a generic power, one-size-fits-all, but a person, a relationship, a spirit that gives itself to each of us uniquely so that the understanding and power that we receive can help us in our own unique life. Today we lived with the Holy Spirit as Comforter. Reflect on the questions, talk to the Lord about them and make notes of your experiences in your journal.

1. Where did I need His comfort the most today?

2. Where did I receive or experience His comfort?

3. Where in my life do I need the Holy Spirit's comfort the most?
